c. 1838

The property known historically as Gordy's Industry is defined by a second quarter of the nineteenth-century two-story, five-bay dwelling that stands south of an old mill pond near the town of Willards. The center hall plan house was erected for Garretson Gordy (1803-1888) and his wife Margaret (1800-1874) around the time he patented Gordy's Industry, encompassing 455 acres, in 1837. The five-bay frame dwelling retains portions of its late Federal woodwork. Also interesting are the portions of old mill stone found on the property.

Garretson Gordy and his wife Margaret occupied this mill property for most of their adult lives, and in 1850 their large family included five children, and according to the census, two other Gordy relatives who were born in Delaware resided there as well. Ten years later, in 1860, Garretson Gordy was listed with real estate and personal property valued at a substantial $16,000. Still living in the household were two of five children; carpenter Levi D. Gordy, aged 30, and his sister Maria, aged 15. The house, along with a saw mill and a grist mill, are located at this site on the Lake, Griffing, and Stevenson atlas, published in 1877. In 1881, probably sensing the end of his life, Garretson Gordy conveyed title of the house and mill property to his son Levi, "in consideration of a home on the said place and in the old residence during my lifetime, plus $1,000." The Gordy mill property remained in family control until the second quarter of the twentieth century when Mary H. Gordy conveyed title to Dean W. Richardson in December 1924.

Prepare both a one paragraph summary and a comprehensive description of the resource and its various elements as it exists today.

The property historically known as Gordy's Industry is located at 7043 Bent Pine Road south of Willards, Wicomico County, Maryland. The two-story, five-bay frame dwelling faces west with the principal gable oriented on a north/south axis. The house stands adjacent to an old mill pond and the sites of former grist and saw mills.

Dating around 1838, the two-story, five-bay, center hall frame dwelling rests on a minimal brick foundation, and the exterior is clad with vinyl siding. A layer of asphalt shingles covers the medium sloped gable roof. Attached to the back of the house is a single-story frame kitchen. To the north of the house is a small mill pond studded with cypress trees.

The west (main) elevation is a symmetrical five-bay façade with a center entrance and flanking two-over-two sash windows. The windows are flanked by louvered vinyl shutters. A three-bay shed roofed porch shelters the front door. The shed roof is supported by replacement aluminum columns. The second floor is lighted by five two-over-two sash windows flanked by louvered vinyl shutters. Trimming the base of the roof is a boxed cornice covered with vinyl sheathing.

The north and south gable ends are defined by pairs of two-over-two sash windows flanked by louvered vinyl shutters. Small two-over-two sash windows light the attic. The edge of the roof is finished with a flush end, and the bargeboard is covered with vinyl. Piercing each gable end is an interior end brick stack. The chimney tops have inset paneled sides.

Attached to the back of the house is a single story kitchen wing, extended on the south side by a single story shed roofed addition. An interior end brick stack pierces the gable of the kitchen. Attached to the north side of the kitchen is a gable roofed side porch added within the past twenty years. The portion of the main block not covered by the kitchen wing is defined by two-over-two sash windows on the first and second floors. Each window opening is flanked by louvered vinyl shutters.

The interior was not seen, but the woodwork described fit stylish features common to the second quarter of the nineteenth century.
